From the Editor's desk

Hello All,

Welcome back to Asian Athletics Digest!

First of all I would like to thank you all for your comments, continuous support and encouragement to our magazine from time to time.

This edition of our magazine is dedicated to the 7th Asian Indoor Athletics Championships to be held Doha, Qatar, from 19 to 20 February 2016.

As in the previous edition, that was produced as a special preview for the South Asian Games, this number of our magazine will also have tons of stats on Asian Indoor Athletics

As much as 432 athletes from 37 member national federations of Asian Athletics Association are expected to take part in the three day meet at Doha.

In this edition of Asian Athletics Digest contains a brief history of Asian Indoor championships, Asian All-Time Top-10 ranking lists as well as Asian and National Indoor Records.

To accommodate the large number of info in this issue we have excluded some of our regular features, which will be resumed in our next number.

As usual we continue to invite our readers to share their thoughts, and meet organizers to send in the results, reports and photographs for our upcoming numbers.

Looking forward to hear from you!

Yours truly,
Ram. Murali Krishnan

Asian Indoor Champs - Preview

The first Asian Indoor Athletics Championships was held at Tehran, Iran, in 2004.

The seventh edition of the above Championships will be held in Aspire Dome at Doha, Qatar for three days from February 19 to 21.

As much as 13 events for men and an equal number of events for women will be contested in Doha where athletes from 37 out of 45 national member federations of Asian Athletics Association will take part.

This is the second time that Doha takes up the venture of conducting this continental championship as it was also organised the third edition in 2008 in an exemplary manner.

As in other competitions the Asian sporting powerhouse of China dominated the Asian Indoor Champs, having garnered 40 gold, 22 silver and 19 bronze medals from the past six editions of the biennial meet.

Chinese city Hangzhou also hosted two back to back editions in 2012 and 2014.

However we are happy to see that athletes from countries like Bahrain, India, Japan, Kazakhstan, Kuwait, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and Uzbekistan are also excel in many events by giving stiff competition to Chinese athletes from time to time in the past editions of Asian Indoor Champ's.

Medal prospects in Doha-2016:

The main attraction in the Doha meet will be Qatar's star high jumper Mutaz Essa Barshim. The reigning World Indoor Champion is holding both the continental as well as meet records in his pet event and expected to soaring over greater heights "at home".

On the women's side another field event star, Kazakh triple jumper Olga Rypakova, the reigning Olympic Champion from London in 2012 and World Indoor champion in 2010.

Several defending champions from the last edition held at Hangzhou, China, in 2014 are also expected to retain title in Doha.

Important among them are host country's sprinter Samuel Francis, half-miler Abdulrahman MUSAEB Balla and double distance gold medalist in 1500 and 3000m Mohamed Al-Garni.

Iranian two-lappers Mahdi Zamani and Maryam Toosi, Kuwaiti hurdler Abdulaziz Al-Mandeeel and long jumper Saleh Alhadad besides Japanese pole vaulter Tomomi Abiko are the other athletes looking to retain the gold positions in Aspire Dome this weekend.

Uzbek high jumpers Nadezhda Dusanova and her teammate Svetlana Radzivil, both with identical personal bests of 1.96m, are ready to deliver a real treat to their fans in the indoor arena.

Asian champion Kemi Adekoya in women's 400m and distance running star and continental record-holder Albert Rop are the main medal contenders from Bahrain while Japan pins its major hope on vaulting star Seito Yamamoto.

Kazakhstan also have a strongman in shot putter Ivan Ivanov, his recent throw of 20.51m is the best mark indoors in Asia although it will not be counted as a continental record due to missing doping control. Their woman sprinter Victoria Zybalkina is also looking to excel in this edition.

We have to wait and watch what the mighty China is having in store this time around.
